YOUR FACE

No matter how bright, your face loses half its charm by the exhibition of unsightly teeth. If extracted the gum may shrink and make bad wrinkles. If neglected they will spread decay to others and make your breath bad. Have your teeth attended to now.

WANTS ORDER LANAI APPEAL SET ASIDE

Judge Gear filed a motion before Judge De Bolt this morning, to set aside the interlocutory decree and order permitting the appeal by the government in the Lanai land injunction case. The matter was argued by Gear for L. L. McCandless, while F. W. Miverton of the attorney general's department argued in behalf of J. W. Pratt the land commissioner who is defendant. The matter was continued until Tuesday.

The court extended the time until Thursday for the defendant to make answer to the original brief of plaintiff. This does not cause the defendant to waive any right to the ten days additional time in which to answer following the decision of the Supreme Court on the appeal.

TWO BOAT LOADS OFF TO LAVA FLOW

It was good to see the dainties going aboard, and passengers eyed with satisfaction the boxes of dressed chickens, crates of vegetables and fruits that were quickly handed over the side and stowed in the pantry. Ice wagons went to the wharf on the run and big blocks of the cooling solid were flung aboard. The same thing happened over on the Mauna Loa wharf. Extra provisions, bread, groceries, fruits, meats and vegetables, together with extra blankets and mattresses, for those who must sleep on deck, were hurried to the vessel.

The crowd that went was a merry one and it was observed that the fair sex was a little in the majority. Numerous school teachers were among the excursionists. Kodaks were much in evidence and several men were armed with complete photographic outfits.

Most folks were dressed for the occasion and comfort was plainly aimed at rather than show. Some were uniformed as if for an extensive tramp, wearing leggings, khaki and heavy (lava proof?) shoes. Canteens were frequently seen and a goodly number of wise ones, W. W. Thayer for example, had their pockets filled with cakes of chocolate, chocolate being considered a hunger satisfier and a thirst quencher, as well, most suitable to long walks.

President Kennedy of the I. L. S. N. Co. was kept moving from the Kinuau wharf to the wharf at which the Mauna Loa lay, seeing that all was well.

But one criticism was offered and that was that both vessels went out without flying a single flag. Indeed the only flag to be seen in the harbor at the time was that aboard the bark Nuuanu, Captain Jesselyn, and this was dipped as the boats passed out of the harbor, in honor of the occasion.

Purser Beckley of the Kinuau reported, upon arrival this morning, that the lava flows were as attractive as ever and said that Kilauea was also steaming up a bit.

George Lyeurgus, proprietor of the Volcano House, Kilauea, suggests that intending sight-seers take the Kinuau next Tuesday and return to Honolulu in the Mauna Loa, joining the Mauna Loa at Honouliuli. In this way both the Mauna Loa lava flows and Kilauea may be seen.

The start of the double excursion this morning was most propitious. The weather was ideal and the water calm. Everybody appeared happy and in holiday mood and nothing occurred to discount the prospective pleasure of the trip.

Oahu Elks

High Jink To

Maui Elks

The Honolulu Elks are going to high jink the Maui Elks and those who have attended the "social sessions" of the local order, know what that means. It means a good time and a rollicking hilarious gathering.

It is planned to have the Elks leave Honolulu on February 15 by the steamer Claudine, go to Wailuku, meet the Elks there hold the session and then return to Honolulu by a special trip of the steamer Kinuau, arriving in Honolulu on Sunday morning, February 16.

DOYLE INVESTIGATING CASE.

Chester Doyle of the Attorney General's department is at Alea today, with O. Sorenson of the surveyor's department, investigating the details of the killing of a Japanese at that place on New Year's day.

Sorenson will survey the scene of the tragedy and make a map of the place for the assistance of the attorney general's department in the prosecution of the defendant.

Of course you intend sometime to own a home. Now is the time to buy. Some bargains at $2,500, $2,250 and $1,500.

ALBERT AH LEONG

WILL LANGUISH

Albert Ah Leong is languishing. He started to languish this morning. Albert is in jail where Judge De Bolt committed him for a period of ten days. It is Albert's third experience.

This morning Albert was before Judge De Bolt, to show cause why he should not be punished for contempt of court in having failed to pay his wife, Mrs. Ah Leong, temporary alimony during the pendency of her libel for divorce.

Albert explained that he was not working, but expected to get a job the first of the month. A friend would give him the job—perhaps. The defendant explained that in the meanwhile he was living on $5 per week, borrowed from friends. The court suggested that he might have given one of those dollars, to his sick children but the defendant demurred, that he needed all himself. The court intimated that Leong might have borrowed some money from his prospective employer.

who was a friend, but Leong said he could not borrow from a friend.

It was hard for the two statements of borrowing money to be reconciled so the court handed Leong a characteristic roast and lecture on his duties to his family and incidentally "handed" him 10 days in jail for contempt of court.

Albert will be discharged by January 29, which will give him two days in which to stretch his limbs after his confinement and limber up for that new job.

PREDICTED THE DISASTER.

Mr. Scott, the English artist has stated that some time ago he heard a speaker talk on sun spots and predicted great seismic disturbances for 1907. If the prediction was made, it seems to be coming true.

SWEPT DOWN MOUNTAIN.

A native by the name of Nalei was swept some two hundred and fifty feet down the side of the Makiki mountain during the recent storm. Flood waters caught him and only prompt action by friends saved him.
